Dear Media Friends,

It is a great pleasure to welcome you all here to Jakarta and Palembang for the 18th Asian Games.

As you know, this is the second time Indonesia is hosting the OCA's premier sports event – and the first since the fourth edition in 1962 in Jakarta.

Since then, the Asian Games have grown into the second largest international multi-sports event in the world, after the Summer Olympic Games.

I can assure you that our Asian Games are admired and respected by the four other continents in the global Olympic Movement, and we are very proud of the high standards we have attained both on and off the field of play.

Asian Games

The Asian Games is a Pancontinental multi-sport event held every four years among athletes from all over Asia.

Before the Asian Games were held, a gathering known as the Far Eastern Championship Games existed which was first mooted in 1912 at a location set between the Empire of Japan, the Philippine Islands and China. The Far Eastern Games were first held in Manila in 1913 with 6 participating nations. The Far Eastern Games were held ten more times until 1934.

After World War II, a number of Asian nations became independent. Many of the newly-independent Asian nations desired the formation of a new type of competition whereby Asian dominance was not expressed through violence but instead strengthened through mutual understanding.

In its story, nine nations have hosted the Asian Games. Forty-six nations have participated in the Games, including Israel, which was excluded from the Games after their last participation in 1974.

The Games are recognized by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and described as the second largest multi-sport event after the Summer Olympic Games.

Therefore, many structures that applies in other Muslim-Majority countries in Southeast Asia also applies in Jakarta, Palembang and most parts of Indonesia.

LANGUAGE

A large number of native residents of Jakarta and Palembang can speak English with varying degrees of fluency. However, the ability to speak English is not something that is common for native inhabitants of both cities. You are more likely to find English speaking Indonesian in public places like hotels, shopping malls and sports center.

FOOD AND BEVERAGES

The tap water is not suitable for drinking. We advise you to drink mineral water and other drinks which are safe for consumption.

CLIMATE INSIGHT

During August-September 2017, we experienced high humidity in Jakarta and Palembang. Therefore we expect the climate in August-September 2018 during Games-Time to be relatively similar. So we advise you to bring mineral water everywhere you go, to avoid dehydration.

IMPORTANT NOTES

Possession of any and all kinds of illegal drugs/narcotics, endangered animal trafficking of any kind and gambling is strictly illegal in Indonesia. The Indonesian authorities have a zero tolerance policy and those who are caught face lengthy prison sentences or in the worst case scenario, a death sentence. So please keep in mind of the Do's and Don'ts and you will have a great experience.

Indonesia is a country with its own customs, traditions, religion and law. You should respect them in all times and be aware of your actions to ensure that they are not offensive.

That being said, these are some travel tips to ensure you have a great time in Indonesia.

- Always be humble and polite when talking to the natives, especially those who are older than you. A little etiquette goes a long way in Indonesia.
- Indonesia is a predominantly male-oriented culture as it is a Muslim society. As such most female visitors who dress or walk around in skimpy clothing could experience trouble. It is recommended for you to dress modestly.
- Indonesia is not as open-minded to homosexuality as other countries. So when you travel outside of the cosmopolitan cities or to rural areas, try not to engage in public displays of affection as you may get comments and/or nasty looks.
- Be polite when calling someone in Indonesia. Use the intended pronoun “Bapak” (Sir) for Indonesian elder males and “Ibu” (Madam) for Indonesian elder females. When calling someone younger than you use the non-gender specific pronoun “Adik”.
- When greeting someone for the first time, shake their hands and nod your head slightly. After the first meeting a handshake is not necessary. You can only shake an Indonesian woman’s hand if she extends her hand first.

- Indonesian society is very family-oriented, and so the concept of ‘saving face’, as well as respect and loyalty, is prevalent in the culture.

DRESS SENSE

When in Indonesia, by and large a conservative and modest dress sense should be adopted-especially by women. Skirt hemlines should fall below the knee and the shoulders should always be covered. If on holiday, casual clothes such as open-necked shirts and trousers for men and modest t-shirts, skirts and dresses for women are perfectly acceptable.

It is acceptable for women to wear makeup, but it is best to adopt an understated or ‘classic’ look. When a visit to a place of worship is organized, the proper dress etiquette for such places is of utmost importance.

FACE

Indonesians don’t like conflict. Friendly, outgoing and peaceful are the norms for interaction. For this reason, saving face and not being caustic are very important for travellers to remember.

People in Indonesia embarrass easily; so it is considered very rude to do things that would embarrass anybody. These include raising your voice or making accusations and ego-based or emotional outbursts are inappropriate. Whilst you may be used to openly airing your displeasure at certain circumstances, in Indonesia, this would be considered extremely disrespectful and bad etiquette. In the event that you are disgruntled or angry with a person, it is best to discuss the matter privately. This way you are allowing them to 'save face' and retain their dignity and honour amongst their peers.

BODY LANGUAGE & COMMUNICATION

Both the Muslim and Hindu faiths somewhat abhor the use of the left hand. It is considered as 'unclean', so when shaking hands, offering a gift, eating or generally touching another person, it is considered proper etiquette to always use your right hand. You should also never touch the head of another adult, as it is commonly believed that the soul inhabits the head, and the head is therefore sacred.

A handshake between men is the a widespread form of formal greeting, and although in more familiar circumstances a pat on the shoulder might follow, it is best to err on the side of caution and only do this if your Indonesian counterpart initiates the gesture.

The Host Cities

The City

The city of Jakarta, the capital of the Republic of Indonesia, was established in the 17th century in 1527. Formerly “Gemeente and Stadsgemeente Batavia” or Batavia in short, the city of Jakarta grows into one of the largest and most populous metropolis in Southeast Asia as well as the world.

Located on the northwest coast of Java island, Jakarta has five administrative regions and one district. Among them are Central Jakarta, North Jakarta, South Jakarta, West Jakarta, East Jakarta and Kepulauan Seribu District. In this city, various tribes, races, and religions live side by side in tolerance.

This city of over 10 million population offers surprises and wonders. In an area of 661.52 km², you can see how the city is moving very fast, because in addition to being the center of politics and government, Jakarta is the center of economy, business, and trade.

Due to its large population, don't be surprised when you go through one of the big streets and then find yourself in a small street with a rush of cars and motorbikes. In addition you will find luxury homes adjacent to the shanty huts on the side of the road, or cars fighting over the parking lot with buses. These things show how this city is very dynamic around the clock.

As one of the world's metropolitan cities, Jakarta has supporting infrastructure such as roads, electricity, telecommunications, water supply, railways, airports and ports. The capital of the country with 250 million inhabitants will offer both attractive and dynamic life of a metropolitan city that never sleeps.

With all its mobility and density, Jakarta is entrusted to be one of the host cities of the 2018 Asian Games. Jakarta is selected due to the adequacy of infrastructure and facilities of sports, transportation, hospitals and accommodation for the implementation of this event.

Jakarta has hot and dry air temperatures or tropical climate. Jakarta will experience the peak of rainy season in January to February and the peak of dry season in August, with an average temperature of 25-38 degrees Celsius.

“We are one nation who fights only for one, INDONESIA,” exclaimed Axton Salim.

PT Indofood CBP Sukses Makmur Tbk Director Taufik Wiraatmadja believed that this year’s event would be a good momentum for the company and the three brands, Indomie, Pop Mie and Indomilk, as it celebrates the power of teamwork, perseverance and unity to the youth through sports.

 Tanoto Foundation

Developing Indonesia Through Education

Tanoto Foundation is a philanthropic organization founded by Mr. Sukanto Tanoto and Mrs. Tinah Bingei Tanoto. Tanoto Foundation started its benevolent efforts in 1981 with the establishment of a kindergarten and elementary school in Besitang, North Sumatra.

Both Sukanto Tanoto and Tinah Bingei Tanoto believe that everyone should have an equal opportunity to have a fruitful and productive lives, and education is the key to upholding those circumstances. Tanoto Foundation's various education programs aim to improve access to education as well as the quality of education.

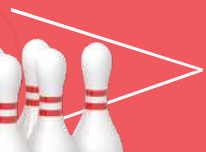

Committed to improving access to education, Tanoto Foundation is one of the distinguished scholarship providers in Indonesia. To date, Tanoto Foundation has provided more than 7,500 scholarships for undergraduate students. In improving the quality of education, Tanoto Foundation supports the enhancement of basic education through the improvement of the learning process itself, the professional development of teachers, and the betterment of school facilities. With these programs, Tanoto Foundation has supported the growth of the quality education in 506 schools reaching 38,000 students and over 4,900 teachers.

In 2018, Tanoto Foundation is embarking on a new journey of harnessing the transformative power of education, to improve lives through a "life-cycle approach" in three key pillars. Beginning with early childhood education & development (ECED), then moving into improving basic education for primary and junior secondary students by focusing on enhancing the quality of teachers, and finally to the leadership development programs for undergraduate students with financial difficulties.

Tanoto Foundation aspires to bring forward the spirit of developing Indonesia through the improvement of the quality of education. A high-quality education starts with the cultivation of a healthy reading culture among the Indonesian children. With that in mind, Tanoto has the initiative to encourage an improvement of education facilities by leveraging the upcoming Asian Games 2018.

3 Tips Creating Epic Super Slowmo with Samsung Galaxy S9 and S9+

Photographer David Soong, giving tips to take an epic super slowmo video. "Through the super slowmo video, every moments that passed by so fast now can be enjoyed with longer and more epic, and produce dramatic content to enjoy and share. Moments that seem ordinary, now become extraordinary epic and ready to reap a lot of likes," said David.

To produce the most favorite Super Slow-Mo content, David shares the easy tricks and steps for Galaxy S9 and S9+ users:

1. Go to the camera application, select super slowmo feature, and select Auto mode
2. Slide the yellow box on the screen, positioning it in the area where fast movement will occur
3. Press the shutter button and enjoy super-slow and epic content.

David also emphasized there are at least 3 things to watch out for in taking the super slowmo video epic:

1. First, select the moment or object to move quickly to be recorded. Fast-moving objects, capable of creating more dramatic and epic super-slowmo videos. Users can choose a variety of moments that occur quickly in their daily lives, which then can be created into a moment of the super-slowmo memorable. I.e when someone is running, flick your beloved hair, or spark when the child is playing water.

2. Second, consider the lighting conditions. Lighting is an important factor in producing super slowmo video. Sunlight is the ideal light source for super slowmo recording, as it has the perfect frequency to be slowed down to 960fps.
3. Third, select the appropriate music. Adding background music in the super-slowmo video content, can add romantic effects, humor to thrill, make the video content more interesting.

Samsung Galaxy S9+ now has a new color edition, Sunrise Gold. The new color edition emits the beauty of gold color that looks stunning, luxury and success. Like the sun, the color of gold has a strong character - optimism, achievement and prosperity. The Sunrise Gold color edition of Samsung Galaxy S9 + is present at Samsung's official store priced at Rp13.499.000 for the Galaxy S9+ 128GB series and Rp14,499,000 for Galaxy S9+ 256GB.

MASCOTS

The Energy of Asia lies in the diversity of its culture, heritage, and legacy. When all these elements come together, they will be a major force to reckon in the world.

The same principle applies to Indonesia, home to hundreds of ethnic groups speaking many different languages. Our Founding Fathers had envisioned a strong and united nation under the Bhinneka Tunggal Ika philosophy. That is why we decide to propose three different animals as the official game's mascot.

Also in correlation to Asian Games, each of these animals represents an aspect of the sport competition such as strategy, speed and power.

KAKA

Kaka is a single-horned rhinoceros (Rhinoceros Sondaicus) that represents strength.

ATUNG

Atung is a Bawean deer (Hyelaphus Kuhlii) that represents speed.

BHIN BHIN

Bhin Bhin is a bird of paradise (Paradisaea Apoda) that represent strategy.
